

JIN Zhongxia

Executive Director for China, International Monetary Fund

Zhongxia joined the International Monetary Fund in February 2015. Prior to joining the Fund, he held various positions in the People's Bank of China in Beijing, including as Director-General of the Research Institute. His major research included interest rate liberalization and monetary policy transmission, internationalization of the RMB, and dynamic BOP management and its implications for China. As Deputy Director-General of the Monetary Policy Department, he was responsible for open market operations, and as Deputy Director-General of the International Department, he was responsible for G20 matters, IMF affairs, and regional monetary cooperation. He participated in the negotiations for establishing the 10+3 foreign exchange reserve pooling system and for the currency swap arrangement between China and other countries after the financial crises.

Zhongxia is the recipient of the State Council's Government Special Award for Outstanding Research in 2012 for his work on the equilibrium exchange rate during China's transition period. He was General Secretary for the China Financial Accounting Association in 2013-14, and has been a Member of the China Finance 40 Forum since 2012. His recent publications include: China and G20 (2014); and Future Path of Globalization: International Trade and Investment Rules Under Restructuring.

Zhongxia holds a PhD in International Finance from the University of Hawaii; and an MA in Macroeconomic Management and BA in International Economics from Peking University.